DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1,19,27,35-36,39-43 recite the limitation "the required number of masks".

There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claims.

3. Claims 1,39 recite the limitations "the techniques" and "the group". There is insufficient antecedent basis for these limitations in the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-2,39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gormish et al (US 5,659,631).

Regarding claim 1, which is representative of claim 39, Gormish teaches a method of reducing the volume of data representing an image, the image represented by a plurality of pixels, each pixel encoded by an original number of bits, said method comprising: a) dividing the image into a plurality of tiles (Fig 1); b) for each tile: (i) identifying the colors represented in the tile (Col 4 Lines 47-51; Fig 1b); (ii) comparing the required number of masks with a threshold number of masks (Fig 5); (iii) if the required number of masks is less than the threshold number of masks, generating computer-readable instructions to represent the tile using one or more of the techniques selected from the group consisting of fills and masks (Fig 5; Col 4 Lines 52-66; Col 8 Lines 23-42).

Considering claim 2, Gormish teaches for each tile: if the required number of masks is greater than or equal to the threshold number of masks, generating computer-readable instructions to represent the tile using the original number of bits per pixel or a smaller index (Fig 5; Col 8 Lines 23-42).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 37-38,44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gormish in view of Hondl (US 6,728,398).

Gormish discloses the method of reducing the volume of data representing an image, the image represented by a plurality of pixels, each pixel encoded by an original number of bits, said method of comprising: (a) dividing the image into a plurality of tiles (Fig 1); (b) for each tile: (i) identifying the colors represented in the tile (Col 4 Lines 47-51).

Gormish does not disclose expressly (ii) determining whether a data savings is achievable using an index to represent the colors in the tile; and (iii) if a data savings is achievable, representing the tiles using an index.

Art Unit: 2622

Hondl discloses expressly (ii) determining whether a data savings is achievable using an index to represent the colors in the tile; and (iii) if a data savings is achievable, representing the tiles using an index (Col 2 Lines 47-61; Fig 1).

Gormish & Hondl are combinable because they are from the same scope of nature.

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine Hondl's index to the reduction method of Gormish.

The suggestion/motivation for doing so would have been to convert the pixel's color value to an index value.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Hondl with Gormish to obtain the invention as specified in claims 37,44.

Considering claim 38, Hondl teaches wherein if a data savings is not achievable using the original data bits to represent the tile (Col 2 Lines 47-61).

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 3-5,9-12,20-26,28-31 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. Claims 6-8,13-18,28 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 2622

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ohta et al (US 6,549,657) Image Processing Apparatus and Method.
